

Dr. Christopher J. Garnier

Dr. Garnier is the former Dean of Ace International Business School in Kathmandu, Nepal and is currently transitioning to the Dean of Student Affairs at the Asian Institute of Technology in Bangkok, Thailand. He is a progress-driven educator, motivational leader and tireless student advocate with a passion for empowering and supporting the most vulnerable and historically marginalized communities around the world. He is globally astute, innovative and a results-focused education consultant, parent/student rights advocate and international lecturer where he has traveled to Nepal, Qatar, Mexico, Finland, India, Singapore, Thailand and both Mainland China and Hong Kong to educate and learn about global educational ingenuity and its impact and relationship to the classroom. Dr. Garnier earned his Ed.D. from the prestigious University of Southern California in Global Education. He also holds a Masters in both Education and Aeronautical Engineering. Prior to his work in education, Dr. Garnier rose to the rank of Captain in the US Marine Corps earning 6 Air Medals and numerous other awards as a combat helicopter pilot while serving twice in Iraq for OIF and once in Afghanistan for OEF and truly believes in the importance and efficacy of servant leadership.